'State of City Message' By Turner Causes Mayor To Call for Town Meeting

Following the reading of a "State of the City Message," submitted by City Administrative Officer James B. Turner to the Albany City Council at the general Monday night session, Mayor Hubert F. Call set Tuesday night, January 26, 7:30 p.m., as a public meeting for the city officials and the citizens of Albany to consider raising additional funds to meet rising costs within the city that threaten the local economy.

Difficulties existing were listed by Turner. They were:

Many income sources are fixed or are shrinking.

Labor and material costs continue to rise.

Taxes of most types are already high.

Several sources of revenue have been utilized to practical limits.

Many pay as you go or user taxes are fine for specific uses, yet are not readily applicable to general city use.

Demand for services continue to rise.

Available taxes flow in slower, creating added cash flow problems.

Prior frugal actions have reduced fund balances needed for annual dry periods.

Prior deferments of certain expenditures have resulted in more urgent demands at more critical times.

Acquisition of Federal Funds carry strings that requires more and ever increasing local expenditures to qualify.

Exclusive of the fact that property taxes are high, they are also at, or near the legal limit, for most government functions and cannot be raised.

Turner's statement gave the picture of the City's financial outlook at the present time. It said:

"As near as can be determined at this time, expenditures will be within a few thousand dollars of the budget. The cushion we carried for a number of years, by having expenditures considerably below estimates, no longer exists since budget estimates were held too low in this year's budget preparation. Over the last 14 years budget estimates have exceeded expenditures by an average of eight percent. The carry over at the end of the year has been our salvation through the dry period of the following year. This year we will not have this carry over."

"What can be done?" questioned the statement by Turner.

The most practical solution, he said, would be the imposition of a Utility Users' Tax. This tax, he continued, if effective for the full year would bring in some $195,000 uniformly through the year and thus help on the dry spell, as well as provide much needed funds for operation of the city and improvements to service.

To impose the tax, he said, action would have to begin now as the Utilities require 90 days lead time after the referendum period of 30 days. To pass an

Albany High Ties For First In Speech Contest

For the first time in the history of the American Legion Speech Contests, a tie for the first place was evidenced at the Legion Hall on January 14.

Albany High School and Berkeley High School tied for first place so both schools will enter the next phase of the competition scheduled to be held in Piedmont, Jan. 20, at 8:00 p.m.

Bob Nora was the first place winner from Albany and now has the opportunity to go further toward winning the coveted $4,000 scholarship and trip to Washington, D.C. His speech coach, Richard Hillman, feels that Bob has a good chance of winning.

Five high schools participated in the contest and five judges came up with identical points for the two winning high schools.

"We've won something for the last 22 years—and now it's time to go further and win the national," Hillman said.

He added that three speakers are being trained for the annual Lions' Club contest to be held February 16. They are Lynn Berling, Bob Nichols and Bob Nora.

Mrs. Herman Kregel Installed President Of Berkeley-Albany Church Women

Mrs. Herman Kregel, member of First Presbyterian Church, was installed as president of the Berkeley-Albany unit of Church Women United at the annual meeting on January 8 at Thousand Oaks Baptist Church.

Other officers elected were: Mary McKenna, St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, first vice president; Mrs. Roosevelt Young, Independent Community Church, second vice president; Mrs. William Hincks, All Souls Episcopal, recording secretary; Mrs. Lucille Lane, North Congregational Church, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ray P. Jennings, First Baptist Church, treasurer; Mrs. Adele Thompson, McGee Avenue Baptist Church, Christian Social Relations chairman; Mrs. Horace N. Gaines, McGee Avenue Baptist Church, Christian World Relations chairman; Sister Dominica Madden, O.P., Principal, School of the Madeleine, Christian World Mission chairman; Mrs. Roger Williams, St. John's Presbyterian Church, Nominating Committee chairman; Norma Stauffer, South Berkeley Community Church, communications.

Retiring after three years as president, Mrs. W. P. Jackson reviewed some of the accomplishments of this interracial, ecumenical movement of women representing 31 local churches affiliated with nine denominations, sponsorship of two pre-kindergarten programs enrolling approximately 80 children and conducted entirely by volunteers. These are held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9:30-11:30 at Lutheran Church of the Cross, Rose and Chestnut Streets, and Phillips Temple, 3332 Adeline Street. Other projects are the youth of Juvenile Hall who are remembered with gifts and visitation; Fairmont Hospital patients for whom Christmas boxes are prepared and a contribution made toward the chaplain's salary; the Berkeley Food Pantry; a nursing home for which a monthly Sunday afternoon service is provided.

Participation during the year in the three annual observances sponsored by the national organization of Church Women United, she continued, has focussed attention on the significant themes of bridging of gaps between people, use of education as the key to tomorrow; taking of courage in standing for truth, in experiencing of Christian love, and in commitment to the achievement of justice.

National projects in which the Berkeley-Albany unit shares include Intercontinental Mission, which currently helps fund a ministry to migrant workers; training of lay leaders in Ethiopia; self-help projects in Greece; gift certificates, totalling last year $266,000, which were applied to a variety of domestic and overseas needs from a model valley project in Appalachia, and aid to hurricane victims in our Southern states, to family service centers in the Middle East and Africa, a nutrition program in Brazil, blankets and used clothing for emergency use by Church World Service.

The Fellowship of the Least Coin is an international project in which local women share. By regular contribution by thousands of women around the world of the smallest coin of their respective countries—a penny in the case of the United States—special educational and self-help programs are made possible.

As she passed over the gavel to her successor Mrs. Jackson expressed the hope that church women would meet such challenges of the new year as help in raising of standards of motion pictures and television for children and youth; in a more realistic approach to care of runaways and coordination of forces in their behalf.

The next meeting of Church Women United will be held on Fri., Feb. 12, 10 a.m. at First Presbyterian Church, Berkeley.

Planning Mothers' March

Mothers' March Volunteers To Conduct Rubella Count

Mothers' March volunteers will provide an extra measure of service in Alameda County during the annual neighborhood appeal, according to Mrs. R. C. Jorgensen of San Leandro, March of Dimes chairman for the 1971 march.

In addition to their traditional appeal for funds to prevent birth defects, the mothers will serve double duty by conducting a rubella "door count" to encourage vaccinations for children ages one through 12.

While not intended as a scientific survey, the results could provide health authorities with a general indication of the extent to which neighborhoods differ in vaccination coverage.

In addition, the door count will serve as an effective reminder to parents who have not yet had their children vaccinated, Mrs. Jorgensen said.

"The impact of a face-to-face encounter with another mother, emphasizing the importance of rubella vaccination as a protection against birth defects is the main purpose of the door count."

Unborn babies can be gravely damaged when pregnant women catch rubella. The last rubella epidemic in the United States, during 1964-65, resulted in some 50,000 damaged or destroyed infants.

This otherwise harmless disease is spread primarily through children. Public health officials believe another epidemic could be prevented if enough children are inoculated with the vaccine.

The Mothers' March of Dimes ends Jan. 28.

TOTAL	$2376.90*	$2314.05*
Difference	$ 62.85*

*Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices for 1971 Duster and Vega 2-door coupes with equipment listed. Prices include Federal Excise Tax and exclude state and local taxes, destination charges, optional equipment other than that listed above, and on Duster, new-vehicle preparation charges.

They've certainly had time enough to learn by now. That with compacts, it's not just the low price but how much value comes through for the low price that really counts. And when you compare our Duster to their Vega you'll see what "Coming Through" is all about. Because Duster not only has more room, more trunk, bigger tires and brakes, and more power than Vega; it's still as easy on gas as it is on your budget. The big difference between Duster and Vega? Come through our place and see for yourself. It's not the price.

ordinance, and have due hearings on it, it would have to start now and have it complete by mid-February.

The statement listed other alternatives in which minor amounts could be raised. These included business licenses, annual as well as some from permits, a sewer service charge and others.

Other ideas, including a try to obtain the unused portion of U.C. property in exchange for the years of services rendered to U.C. and building of a shopping center, high-rise building, etc., were discussed by the Council.

Feasibility of all these, the Council felt, could be discussed at a general meeting with ideas coming from the citizens. Mayor Call said he would like to see the Council Chambers "filled" for the meeting.

Other business at the meeting included a proclamation granted to the U.S. Air Force for "Air Force Nurse Week" this week; a report from Bud Rooney, Superintendent of Parks and Recreation, submitting information on the Parks General Plan and suggesting a meeting with the Council, Park and Recreation Commission, Boosters and Little League on priorities; a report from AC Transit on the transportation needs of the East Bay communities, including coordination of services with BART; and the granting of a Home Occupation permit, following Appeal, for a six month trial period to Mildred Charbonnier.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of Former Mayor Clifford Rishell of Oakland.

Playground Evaluation
By Marin PTA

One child stalks a wounded mountain lion, another struggles in his climb in the rarified air of the Matterhorn. Still another narrowly escapes detection from marauding bandits as a broken field runner makes the touchdown with seconds to play. The bell rings and recess is over.

What kind of playground is needed to generate the use of mind and muscle to the greater development of the child? Marin parents hope to explore the needs of the school yard and how to fill them Thursday night, January 21, at the PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m.

President Clyde Shumway and faculty members Mrs. Robin Davis and Mr. Fred Carris will present a brief evaluation of the present playground environment and its needs. After a short movie called "Planning Creative Play Equipment for Small Children," a discussion period will be held to formulate possible future changes. Presently the playground boasts cushioned flooring under the jungle gym areas made possible from funds raised at last year's PTA Carnival.

Marin parents are invited to attend and have their say in the planning for the future.

Montgomery Ward Offers Interior Decoration Classes

Now apartment dwellers and home owners can expand their living quarters without moving walls or spending money for new construction.

Linda Adams, Montgomery Ward's interior decoration coordinator and instructor, said, "The secret of this economy is available to anyone who wants to learn about the magic of interior decorating, furnishing and accessorizing."

"Our newest class, Limited Space Unlimited, is the most challenging effort we have made in the consumer education field," continued Mrs. Adams. Students are taught how to create a scale model of their particular problem area and then, under expert guidance, work out the solution with model furniture.

"This study is all about today and the limitations of our 'populated' society. We offer homemakers a knowledge which can prove to be a real money-saver when it comes to selecting furnishings for the home with space limitations," added Mrs. Adams. In each store classroom, Ward's professional instructors will teach how to carve out extra storage space in an older home or create a dining room in a small apartment in six one-and-a-half hour sessions.

Montgomery Ward became the first merchandising firm to offer professional interior decorating instruction nationally when it introduced "The Art of Interior Decorating," an eight part introduction to interior decorating, in March, 1969. Since then the 98-year-old retailing firm has added a second study course, "The Styles in Your Life," and now the more advanced "Limited Space Unlimited."

By the end of 1970, Montgomery Ward will have enrolled more than 42,000 homemakers in the three courses—all of which are available in 83 stores. In 1971, Wards expects to expand the course to 125 locations across the country.

The initial course, "The Art of Interior Decorating," deals with the basic elements of design, color, fabrics and lighting in a way that students are able to define their own decorating needs and to find solutions for them.

"The Styles in Your Life," a close look in five parts at furniture styles and their history, was added to Ward's consumer education curriculum last June. It

Thousand Oaks Shopping Area Maintains Interest By Modernization & Programming

The most small suburban shopping areas have been sliding into obscurity or mall complexes, and Thousand Oaks has maintained a steady air of festival activity from January to January—making it a fun place to shop.

It is likely to find aisles of stores, or small shops, and with friends meeting and chatting; but this adds to the informality and warmth of the "street." ("I came down to the street this morning to pick a shower gift for Shirley—oh, you know she was getting married.")

Thousand Oaks Merchants responsible for the continued existence of this rare phenomena neighborhood shopping. Planned events spark the Street Shopping in the spring to dress decorations in the Jumping and the annual proclamation of the Berkeley City Council, the merchants provide an afternoon of 49er atmosphere for the community. Costumes and decorations carry out the theme, and competition is heated and hilarious.

Christmas, Halloween, Fire Prevention Week, all come into their own on the Street.

The early fame of Thousand Oaks District goes back to the days when it was a wheat field on the side of a hill. In 1908 there was a statewide vote which almost moved the capital, now Sacramento, to property now a bit of which is Thousand Oaks residential area. Solano Avenue at The Alameda and at Colusa Avenue, one block west, was at various times the terminus of both Southern Pacific and Key System interurban electric lines. The lines connected with the ferry boats to San Francisco. When the bridge was completed, the trains "ran" the bridge. Later when the Key System substituted buses for its trains, the F bus enlarged its run to include Solano Avenue.

Much of the nostalgic past has gone the way of the Oaks Theater's 25c kiddies' matinees and the nickel ice cream cones you could buy at McCallum's and Ortman's; but progress in attractiveness has continued to grow and flourish. Remodeled stores, enlarged facilities, and modern marketing have moved with the increased population.

The Oaks Theater has refurbished the theater and now runs first run movies. Frank Andronico's produce market is now Park and Shop, one of the largest markets in the East Bay. McCallum's and Ortman's still offer their delicious ice cream from stores decorated in Gay Nineties and yesterday-themed themes. Jim Owenhouse still has his hardware store which is now combined with a variety store in a larger, remodeled location and is now recognized as one of the tops in its field. Mexican, Chinese, Italian and North Korean restaurants give international flavor to the neighborhood. Gift shops, art shops, and antique stores make an interesting diversity to the shopper. Old family names still dot the street: Bolton, Paulson, Larson, Fahmie, Accornero, Zavattaro, Daughtry, Gardner, Witherpoon and many, many more still serve the public with the old fashioned courtesy that seems to be of an era passing too quickly into the age of IBM and mechanized service.

It's nice to go up or down the Street and still be a person rather than a number.

There was a world war in progress when Si Gershenson opened Gersh Photos at 1747 Solano Avenue in 1944.

Low priorities and war-weary customers led to slow business during those first difficult years, but Si existed and persisted and with the end of the war, priorities lifted, and new photographic equipment designed to fit a more modern era were introduced, and Si and his wife, Miriam, prospered.

Last year Dick Dubois, who gained his thirst for photography from working part time as a clerk for Si when he was a youth, joined the firm. He had previously been employed as a photographer on the Berkeley Gazette. He is conducting classes in photography and darkroom work.

The atmosphere inside Gersh Photo is pleasant and unhurried with chairs at the photo counter, carpeting, organized supply racks, and professional advice.

Gersh Photo looks forward to serving the community for another 26 years of business.

Antique Show Announced by Berkeley Club

Berkeley City Club is busy preparing for the 23rd annual Antiques Show to be held on January 28, 29, 30 and 31 at the City Club, 2315 Durant Ave., Berkeley.

The interest in antiques has grown and is growing the past number of years, as shown by the mounting number of dealers. Berkeley City Club is rightly proud of its tradition, having dealers from all parts of the state.

A peek at a few items includes a Ming Period china cabinet, approximately 400 years old, some early Spode, an antique silver coffee urn, a pewter soup tureen and many, many more.

Mrs. David Thomas is general chairman, assisted by many of the club members as hostesses, also working at the coffee bar and snack bar.

The hours for viewing are from noon to 9:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, and Sunday from noon to 5:00.

Growth of 1000 Oaks Variety Written By Owenhouse Covers 40 Years of History

By Jim Owenhouse

1000 Oaks Variety Hardware today is a far cry from what it was 20 years ago or for that matter 40 years ago. Then known as Solano Hardware it was the smallest hardware store in the Bay Area. It was only 12 feet wide and 50 feet deep with bare concrete floors and old type kitchen tables to display merchandise on. The lights were the kind which you pulled with a string and in the winter it was cold because the building contained no heat. It was the typical old hardware store with the unforgettable odor of tools and paint.

It was at this stage of the game that I entered the picture, a much confused youngster, to help my father who had just purchased this store from a Mr. Jenkins. We had recently moved from Montana where our family had been in the hardware business for over 50 years. I loved the store from the beginning and spent years under the tutelage of my father. Seven years we worked together building the business up to meet the requirements of our neighborhood. I made many friends during this time and it was through the store that I met the girl whom I married 15 years ago this month.

In 1957, we enlarged the size of our store and moved two doors up which is the present site of Pet Land. We spent another seven years at this location and enlarged our crew to three with the addition of Mr. Mal Able (who has since passed away). The years here were happy and productive and it was during this time that I met and became friends with our local druggist, Joe Gardella of 1000 Oaks Pharmacy.

At this point, my father turned the business over to me and in 1964 Joe and I decided to combine efforts and build a complete ly new concept of the hardware store—one that would not only sell tools and paint but also many other items that would have an appeal to a neighborhood like North Berkeley and Albany. Thus in the spring of 1964 we moved for the third and last time, only one-half block away, into a completely new rebuilt building that was once the Key Food Store and also before that the Lucky Market.

Today, after six years in the new store, we are still growing—thanks to this fine area and all of the good people who live here and shop with us. After our move into this new store (which we re-named 1000 Oaks Variety Hardware) I brought in my brother-in-law, John Zoro, as a full time employee of the firm and he has since become our store manager. In the fall of 1969, we acquired Bob Sellman, one of the Bay Area's top paint and wallpaper men from National Lead Company. Bob is now our assistant store manager. Remember Jack Rubenstein? For many years he was superintendent of the Landscape Station Post Office. He has been with us for over five years now and so has Arlene McCasland and Geri Gibson. Our paperback book salesman, Ted Steffen, has joined our staff as a full time employee this fall. Our young sales people, who are high school and college students from the Albany and Berkeley area are typical of the good American youngsters of today and we are proud of them.

My grateful thanks to all of our friends and customers who have made our business a success. Happy New Year to everyone!

ly new concept of the hardware store—one that would not only sell tools and paint but also many other items that would have an appeal to a neighborhood like North Berkeley and Albany. Thus in the spring of 1964 we moved for the third and last time, only one-half block away, into a completely new rebuilt building that was once the Key Food Store and also before that the Lucky Market.

Today, after six years in the new store, we are still growing—thanks to this fine area and all of the good people who live here and shop with us. After our move into this new store (which we re-named 1000 Oaks Variety Hardware) I brought in my brother-in-law, John Zoro, as a full time employee of the firm and he has since become our store manager. In the fall of 1969, we acquired Bob Sellman, one of the Bay Area's top paint and wallpaper men from National Lead Company. Bob is now our assistant store manager. Remember Jack Rubenstein? For many years he was superintendent of the Landscape Station Post Office. He has been with us for over five years now and so has Arlene McCasland and Geri Gibson. Our paperback book salesman, Ted Steffen, has joined our staff as a full time employee this fall. Our young sales people, who are high school and college students from the Albany and Berkeley area are typical of the good American youngsters of today and we are proud of them.

My grateful thanks to all of our friends and customers who have made our business a success. Happy New Year to everyone!

Pharmacists on duty besides Joe Gardella, the owner, are Gilanco Delfanti and Eugene Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan works on Thursday, late Saturday afternoons and on Sundays. Many will remember him from Robert Klienhammer's "old" Thousand Oaks Pharmacy that used to be located at Solano Avenue and Tacoma.

Mike Patton has been the head cosmetician at the pharmacy for over 15 years. The cosmetic department features Elizabeth Arden, Revlon, Max factor, Caron, Guerlain, Chanel, Dorothy Gray, Helena Rubinstein, 4711, Jean Nate, Marcelle, Arex, Coty, Faberge, and many others.

NEW SOLANO GALLERY HAS OILS, EUROPEAN & LOCAL

Judith and Harry Weiss are the owners and operators of the new Solano Gallery, 1758 Solano Ave., in the Professional Building.

A wish had come true when they had their opening December 8, 1970. Long before that date, Harry had always liked beautiful scenes of nature. Coming from Germany, where he was born, and traveling through Europe, he saw many breathtaking sites. Coming from East Coast to the San Francisco Bay Area; after he came to the United States in 1956, he again thought of the beauty of the countryside, especially the Tahoe area. He got a job as coffee shop manager for Kirby's in the El Cerrito Plaza and it was there that he met Judith.

Judith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Mann, residents of the Bay Area for 25 years, was majoring in Music and Drama on a vocal scholarship at San Francisco State College. Looking for part time employment to augment her income, she applied for a job and Harry hired her. She is well known in the Bay Area for her vocal talent. Her first musical endeavors were encouraged through Jobs Daughters, Bethel 87, which met at the Thousand Oaks Masonic Temple on Colusa. Since then, with her Masters in Music, she has had large scholarships and has performed many leading operatic roles with Bay Area groups. She has been soloist at local churches and has given concerts. Her next performance will be as the Countess in the "Marriage of Figaro" with the San Francisco Musical Club.

Harry and Judith honeymooned in Germany and upon their return talked of owning some of the original oils, both local and from abroad. They felt everyone should have this same opportunity. Art work of this nature has been duty free since Kennedy's presidency and his move to create cultural exchange, and they can now be offered at wholesale prices people can afford.

Since their opening, Judith and Harry have made many friends and added to the community the quality and atmosphere that art creates. They make their own selections and listen closely to what people are interested in and then searching for something to fit their home style, whether it is for office, apartment, or house need.

Their paintings range in price from $5 to $300 and quality is their trademark. They offer a standing invitation to visit their Gallery.
